Join our creative network at the largest contemporary crafts centre in the South West

We are an educational charity promoting contemporary craft and nurturing creative excellence regionally, nationally and internationally. Join us in celebrating the value of the unique and beautiful hand-made objects.

Our base at Riverside Mill in Bovey Tracey is the leading crafts venue in the South West, recognised for quality exhibitions and with an international reputation. Each year, around 120,000 members of the public visit to enjoy, to take part and to buy craft.

There are many ways you can get involved, have a go and get 'hands on': through workshops, outreach in the community and our gallery education programme. Experience the power of directly connecting with material, be it wood, glass, textile, metal, paper, clay or anything that can be worked and used to create.

Or why not volunteer in our shop, steward an event, or assist at an exhibition opening?

Please support us

We welcome donations, whether one-off gifts or regular giving by Direct Debit from £10 a month. Please tick below for more information. You can also donate online at www.crafts.org.uk

A gift in your Will is a great way to continue your support; it costs nothing now and it's easy to do. Your legacy will bring craft into the lives of more people, support the preservation of craft skills and the creation of enduring, unique pieces.

All legacies to charities are tax free. If you make a gift to the Devon Guild of Craftsmen in your Will, its value will be deducted from your estate before Inheritance Tax is calculated.

Your support makes a difference

Your support means we can offer unique opportunities to people from all walks of life. Anyone can have a go at making. The child who enjoys a workshop today, could become the master craftsman of the future.

Our education outreach programme, Freehand, places makers in schools and community groups. We reach groups as diverse as residents of Devon care homes, inmates of HM Prison Dartmoor, children and young people from mainstream and special schools and refugees, involving around 1,200 people in 2016.

A further 16,578 people participated through group visits, gallery activities, workshops and events associated with our programme at Riverside Mill.

With your help, we can carry on forging partnerships that bring craft within reach of people who otherwise would never get the chance.

Our outstanding education work is recognised through the Quality Badge from The Council for Learning Outside the Classroom.

Why not join us now? Or make a gift of Friends membership to someone you love. Thank you.

There has never been a better time to support us

All new Friends subscriptions, sponsorships and donations will be matched £ for £* by Arts Council England

*Devon Guild of Craftsmen is part of the Catalyst Evolve scheme running to 31 August 2019. The scheme matches donations to us £ for £ up to a maximum of £52,500.
